Brad’s mission team training consists of 7-9, two hour training sessions. The sessions include lectures, leadership and team building activities, cultural research, training in the Biblical concepts of missions, and much more. Training begins 3-5 months in advance of departure, continues with team meetings on the ground, and follow-up debriefing upon return. The debriefing is designed to help the team member process their mission experience and help them see their role in God’s Great Commission, both at home and abroad.
